U. S. HOLDS NO LURE TO EMMA GOLDMAN

Famous Red Denies That She Seeks to Leave Russia—Ridiccles Clare Sheridan.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Vehemently denying the report that Washington B. Vanderlip had been asked by her to use his influence in the United States to allow her to return to America, Emma Goldman, deported anarchist, now in Soviet Russia, likewise assails the views of Mrs. Clare Sheridan, British sculptress; R. G. Wells, British novelist, and other persons who have given reports concerning visits to Russia.

Miss Goldman's criticisms are contained in a letter to her niece, Stella Comyn, made public here.

"In the midst of this gigantic reconstruction there are persons who take it upon themselves to render a verdict when they have only been in the country a few months or weeks. Wells was here fourteen days, Mrs. Sheridan a few weeks longer. Wonderful people!

"What does the revolution signify to these gentry? Mrs. Sheridan's blood boils when she takes a seat in a theater box in which there are Egyptians and Hindus. I hope the blood of the Hindus and Egyptians boil when they sit next to such English snobs whose class has spilled so much blood of the natives in India, Egypt and Ireland.

"I do not agree that Mrs. Sheridan writes interestingly and humanly.

VIVID BEAUTY SPOTS MAR ARMS IN PARIS

American Women at Long-champs Follow Society's Bare Limb Style.

PARIS, April 30.—"Beauty unadorned" is no longer the rule in Paris society. At fashionable Long-champs today barbarous jade jewelry and black and yellow plaisters like large "beauty spots" marred the perfection of white young arms, legs and shoulders, which following spring fashions are mostly bare.

Miss Spinnelly, whose legs are world famous, wore a circular green spot an inch beneath each knee, while slender Jane Renouard, who is of the Spanish type, wore "beauty badges" on the left elbow and right shoulder.

Among Americans who adopted this latest fad was seen Mrs. Christian Hemmick, who was Alice Barney. She appeared clad in semi-Oriental garb of black crepe de chine with a string of Indian beads and a bright yellow sash.

Princess Viora, formerly Edith Kelly, wore a gown of black georgette and a toque trimmed with osprey feathers as she chatted animatedly with Lady Patricia Ramsey and Princess Helene Murat.

Dame Nellie Melba remained seated, frankly enjoying the sport of exchanging reminiscences with Mrs. A. K. Macomber whom she knew during her visit to California.

Judge Henry Hollis, of New York, who has taken up law practice in Paris, had a lucky day, but the goddess deserted Cornelius Vanderbilt, who attended clad in correct British fashion. Seth Barton French was seen admiring the fashions and fashion wearers in the paddock.

Other Americans noticed in the paddock were Gilbert Colgate, the soapmaker from New York; John Cadwell, banker, of Birmingham; Mr. and Mrs. Martin Beck, of New York; Hugh J. Ward, impresario, of Philadelphia, who has arrived from Australia on his tour of the world; Jack

Dean and his wife, Fanny Ward, who, still without wrinkles, is proving the lastingness of the miracle of skin-tightening, to which she submitted in 1919.

Also Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Murphy, of New York; Miss Lowden, daughter of the former governor of Illinois, who snatched a day's holiday from her strenuous labors in the devastated regions, and George Broadhurst, who is getting local color for a racing scene in a forthcoming play.

Colonel and Mrs. William Hayward looked quite unperturbed over their son's recent elopement, and Dudley Field Malone, of New York, who looked a bit homesick.

Wheat Bin Collapses.

HARRISONBURG, Va., April 30.—Five thousand bushels of wheat poured on the ground here when a bin at a local mill burst, releasing its contents. The bin was constructed of building tile and was reinforced with half-inch iron rods.

REVENUE MEN FIND STILL IN CABIN AT LYNCHBURG

LYNCHBURG, Va., April 30.—Internal revenue men raided a log cabin on the Southern railway, just outside of the city limits, destroyed a 100 gallon copper still and arrested C. L. Layne, R. A. Smith and J. W. Smith, on the charge of operating it. They were held for the July grand jury. The raiding officers estimate that the still would produce fifty gallons of liquor a day. Three gallons of liquor and 200 gallons of beer were destroyed with the outfit. The still appeared to be a new one.

Appoint Woman to Board.

FINCASTLE, Va., April 30.—The Trustees Electoral Board for Betsworth county has appointed Miss B. O. Gardner, of Haymarket school trustees for the Amsterdam district.

Conducted As Forger.
CUMBERLAND, Md., April 30.—Marshall P. Barnes, who attempted to escape from Deputy Sheriff Peter McFarland, while being taken from the jail to the court house, McFarland sustaining a fractured arm in the struggle, was convicted before Judge Frank G. Wagsman of forgery. It was shown that Barnes, operating as "William L. Fletcher," passed several checks against the account of his brother, James W. Barnes.
